The Intelligencer:

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 5.

MESSES RITLEY, COWL & Co. took hold of the Union Vial and Bottle Factory when it had pretty badly burned the hands of its prime owners, and having slipped through the fingers of its original projector, bid fair to slip itself into the creek. It was considered an unlucky affair, a bid situation, and all the other back saituation, and all Shippers are advised in our advertising columns to hand their bills in promptly.

The new firm brought to bear on the defunct institution, skill, experience and practical energy, which soon dispelled all the fills to which it seemed to have been heir, with the exception of the one great fill, its original construction. In a run of eight or ten months they built up a flourishing trade and made as good glass wareas ever clinked on the counters of a wine establishment, or the shelves of mr apothecary. Owing, however, to the deficient construction of the whole concern, the overs gradually, one after another, became unfit for use, until the proprietors resolved to remedy the evil by beginning at the foundation; and accordingly, during the months of August and September, dismantied the whole concern, and rebuilt and increased the number of their overs to fifteen, rebuilt and increased the number of their overs to fifteen, rebuilt and resultant on their threats, and the secondrels deterred by her cries and matter infernal purpose after subborn resistance, were obliged to relinquish their infernal purpose after the pulls and increased the number of their overs to fifteen, rebuilt and increased the number of their overs to fifteen, rebuilt and increased the number of their overs to fifteen, rebuilt and increased the number of their overs to fifteen, rebuilt and increased the number of their overs to fifteen, rebuilt and increased the number of their overs to fifteen, rebuilt and increased the number of their overs to fifteen, rebuilt and increased the number of their overs to fifteen, rebuilt and increased the number of their overs to fifteen the business of the vibration. In a first of the vibration of the tember, dismantled the whole concern, and rebuilt and increased the number of their ovens to fifteen, rebuilt and increased the size of their furnace, and in every way improved and enlarged the capacity of their works. Confining themselves exclusively to the manufacture of bottles of every description, and a portion of the firm being practically engaged in the business, they are now turning out goods unsurpassed by any model in any establishment in now turning out goods unsurpassed by any, made in any establishment in the

with his chain-gang, engaged in the re-moval of the abominable accumula-tion of filth, which disgraces the city and nauseates the inhabitants in the readers will remember, killed Lieut. Armstrong, in a difficulty which occurred last summer, at the house of the hold their pow-wow some warm wet day when its fetid steam hangs in the air sickening as the stench of a cess pool. It is a little strange that a pile so obnoxious to the eye and nose and so revolting to a decent respect for the reputation of the city for cleanliness, should have been allowed to accumulate until it has reached the height of six or eight feet above the street level. The region in the vicinity of the B. & O. R. R. is like an Augean stable were entirely innocent. Mr. Ford has remonstrated in vain with those who hauled the components of this filthy heap and has even forbidden the throwing of such deposits upon the grounds belonging to the B. & O. R. R. Co.

We are not sure that a mere leveling down of this heap to the grade of the street will be any remedy. It will only unveil to the naked eye, hidden layers of the same accumulation, unimproved by long repose in darkness. The entire removal is winted to appear at the property is advancing so rapidly in value, and rants increasing, we may say, enormously, capitalists will not be slow to embrace the opportunities for investments referred to. vicinity of the mouth of Quincy street.

of the same accumulation, unimproved by long repose in durkness. The entire removal is what is properly demanded if it can be done. At any rate, a heavy penalty should be imposed upon parties depositing any fifth of any kind; there in the future. Nothing that will effect the air, should be thrown there, and clay and ashes deposited there should never be allowed to accumulate above the street level.

VISORS OF OHIO COUNTY.—The Board of day.

There were present Messrs. Hupp, (president,) Boggs, Franzheim, Goode, Handlau, Nicholl, Saulsbury, Wallace and Wilson.

It was ascertained by examination of the poll-books of the county who were the successful candidates at our recent election, and a resolution was passed announcing the members elect to the House of Delegates and the highest number of votes received in the county for member elect of the Senate; and the expenses of the election were ordered to be paid.

The following named persons were appointed road overseers for the county; Messrs. Joseph Waddle, J. E. Sisson and A. C. Boggs.

License was granted to Fred. Hyer, of Triadelphia, to keep a house of private entertainment.

Sundry bills against the county, for Experimental County of the cool weather kept a good many "curiosity people" away.—The following versite prices of some articles: Butter 40s50e per pound; eggs 40c per joeze; chickens 40a45e per piece; turkeys $1 25a52 00 per piece, Apples 70c

Granted.

On motion Dr. Hupp was appointed a committee to examine the standing rules and by-laws presented by the clerk for the government of the Board.

It was ordered that permanent seats be put in the Court-room for the use of juries.

The troupe number over forty performers, and the operas will be presented in a perfect and unmutilated form, just as written by their respective composers. The chorus and orchestra have been selected from the best musical organizations now existing in America, and all the principal artists engaged have at one time or other enjoyed enviable positions in the New York Opera Companies, where even at the present time their services are sought for, their contracts with Mr. Strakosch only preventing them from accepting an engagement.

The necessary committees to collect funds and a building committee have been appointed. We have been shown the design selected by the committee. It is of Anglo-Italian style, a style which, though plain, is picturesque in its neatness.

The desire of the people in that part of the city for a new church and the energy with which their committees are acting, bid fair to make the new church a substantial reality among them in a very short time.

The vote on the amendment, by ayes and noes, was as follows: Ayes: Fransheim, Goode, Saulsbury and Wilson-Noes: Boggs, Handian, Hupp, Nicholl and Wallace.
